

Canadian Eventing Horse Trials Participation Policy 2016

Competitors and/or horses must qualify to enter the appropriate horse trials division, Open Divisions are for competitor/horse combinations who have demonstrated performance results at a higher level and who have more experience. Regular divisions are intended for those starting out, or upgrading to a new level.

An Organizer who hosts four levels of competition could, if entries warrant hold Pre-Training, Open Pre-Training, Training, Open Training, Preliminary, Open Preliminary, and Intermediate & Open Intermediate. In this way all levels will have an Open & a Regular division. It is not mandatory to host both Open and Regular divisions - an organizer with a limited number of entries at a particular level may host one Open division to accommodate both Open and Regular competitors. A horse needing a confidence boost may drop down to a lower level & compete in an Open Division.

The HORSE TRIALS PARTICIPATION ELIGIBILITY TABLE lists the qualifications required to compete in each division. On the entry form is a section where the rider will list the qualifications. This information will be used to determine the eligibility of the competitor and horse.
